

Your submission to Proposed National Policy Statement for Highly Productive Land

Dr Brian McIntosh, Brian John McIntosh

[REDACTED]
Bay of Plenty
New Zealand
[REDACTED]

Reference no: 9

Clause

How should highly productive land be considered when planning for future urban expansion?

Notes

Urban expansion should be totally prohibited on highly productive land and the owners should be protected from excessive local body rates as the land is a community benefit while in food production.

Clause

How should highly productive land be considered when providing for rural-lifestyle development?

Notes

Rural lifestyle block development should be totally prohibited on highly productive land and the owners should be protected from excessive local body rates as the land is a community benefit while in food production.