1. Background

1. Despite the general requirement that a risk management programme is tailored to the individual business concerned, section 12(3A) of the Animal Products Act (the Act) allows for a risk management programme for a particular business, or part of a business, to be based on a template, a model, or a code of practice, if in the view of the Director-General the template, model, or code of practice is valid and appropriate for businesses of that kind.
2. The NZFSA has published the Animal Products Act 1999 — Approval of Templates, Models, Codes of Practice Statement of Policy to clarify the application of section 12(3A) of the Act and provide the procedural arrangements for assessing and approving a template, model, or code of practice.
3. The NZFSA has developed a code of practice (which includes a risk management programme template) for bee product processing referred to as the 'Code of Practice: Processing of Bee Products'. The version approved is dated July 2005.

 - d. the Code of Practice: Processing of Bee Products is practical and achievable for the kind of businesses concerned.
2. The Code of Practice: Processing of Bee Products meets criteria (a), (b) and (d). Of note, the Code of Practice: Processing of Bee Products was trialed by a number of processors of bee products. Feedback received from this trial and from other consultation processes, such as working group meetings with industry representatives and industry conferences, was incorporated into the Code of Practice: Processing of Bee Products.
3. In regard to the identification of regulatory requirements, recommended practice and guidance material, it is noted that the Code of Practice: Processing of Bee Products has clearly identified the regulatory requirements in each section or attachment, however allowances for specific businesses
