

Kia ora!

Welcome!

Nau mai
Haere mai!

This will be different from the norm...

But still fun and engaging!

Whakaata Waharoa ki te Manatū ahū Matua MPI Induction Week

Now running
Virtual sessions!

Ministry for Primary Industries
Manatū Ahū Matua

*Whakaata Waharoa ki te Manatū
Ahu Matua translates to “To show the Gateway to the Ministry for Primary Industries.”*

Kaupapa o te wiki - Focus of the Week

- Feel welcomed to the MPI whānau
- Know where to go to get help
- Have begun to form networks across the ministry
- Get a taste of the size and scope of what MPI does across all of our branches
- Are aware of your responsibilities working within government and MPI

Waharoa will be split into the following parts

Online Presentations

Someone sharing some content with you, and interacting with your questions. We're going to keep these short and snappy, and with plenty of interactivity so that you don't drift off.

Cohort Groups

We all need to chat things over a bit to work out what it all means for you, and we definitely still want you to do that. You'll be placed into a cohort group to do some activities (some work based, and some just fun) during the week and to talk through and discuss all of the stuff that you are learning.

Self-paced Learning

We'll also give you some work to complete which you'll have flexibility to do at your own pace. Early birds can get up early to do it, and night owls can do it after the kids are in bed. These will be a mixture of e-learning modules, videos, and much much more...

Other things that you may have heard about...

You may have heard from your colleagues that we used to run a number of field trips as a part of the programme.

While we currently can't offer these as a part of the programme for various reasons (including COVID restrictions) we haven't forgotten about these. In the near future you will be offered the opportunity to participate in a number of these field trips at a time that works for you.
